AISB 3rd Grade Flea Market

Rights and Responsibility Unit- Action Plan

During our Social Studies unit, Rights and Responsibilities, AISB Third Grade students learn that many children around the world do not have the basic rights that we sometimes take for granted: housing, education, food, clean water and time for play. As the students develop a deeper awareness of how fortunate we are, we use this opportunity to take action to help other children.

Each year, AISB third grade students and their families donate their USED toys, games, puzzles or books (clean and in good condition) for the annual Third Grade Flea Market. The students learn about responsibility as they collect, organize, price, and make posters to promote this worthwhile project. Students learn how to display the items on tables in the hallway. On the day of the Flea Market, students practice their math skills as they collect money and make change for the Fourth and Fifth Grade customers.

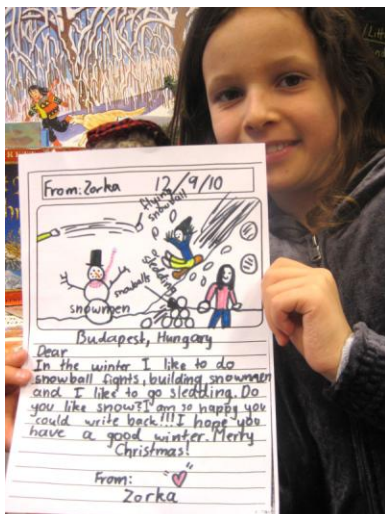

The money raised during the Third Grade Flea Market goes towards purchasing playground equipment for the children of the Salonta Children's Home in Romania. Our school has developed a strong connection with this Home. This year third grade students wrote letters to the children of Salonta and created books in basic English to continue our meaningful connection.
