WFP, Who We Are, What We Do

WFP is the UN's frontline agency in the fight against hunger and the world's largest humanitarian organisation. Watch this short video to get an overview of who we are, how we work and the challenges we face.

Hungry Planet

Join WFP for an unsettling look at the conditions of drought-victims in Chad; IFAD to see how an island nation is preparing for the day when it will be underwater; and FAO to see how farmers in Burkina Faso are learning to produce more.

"Rice Day"

On World Food Day, 204 students at the New School in Rome lined up for lunch. Instead of their regular meals, each student sat down with a plate of rice. The money they saved by eating only rice went to WFP's School Feeding Programme.

LSE "Fill the Cup" Event

For the second year running, students from the London School of Economics' UN Society gave a voice to the hungry on their campus by organising a Fill the Cup Week around World Food Day.

Freerice 2.0: Feeding Minds While Feeding The Hungry

Players of the new Free Rice can log-in using their Facebook or Twitter profiles, share the amount of rice they've raised and create groups to play with friends or classmates.

School Meals in Kibera

Residents of Nairobi's Kibera slum live on a dollar a day, or less. And most children eat only one meal a day, says Kibera headmistress Josephine Mumo - at Stara Rescue Centre school, thanks to WFP's school meals programme.

Pakistan: Awash in the 'Land of Five Rivers'

Marco Frattini visits Punjab, the "land of five rivers," where epic monsoon floods laid waste to millions of acres of farmland. While there, he meets a family waiting for the waters to recede in a makeshift tent alongside the road--one of thousands receiving food aid from WFP.

How Antonio Got His Biscuits

WFP has distributed more than 230 tons of 'high energy' biscuits in the Philippines as part of its response to the recent typhoons and flooding. Intent on seeing how these biscuits get from factory to beneficiary, Martin Penner followed one consignment all the way to a little boy called Antonio...
