

Global Youth Service Network

The Global Youth Service Network, coordinated by YSA (Youth Service America), includes hundreds of local, state, national, and global organizations around the world that have committed to engaging young people in changing their communities through service. Groups of partners include:

International Partners

- Global Partners are international organizations, including U.S. based organizations, often with offices or affiliates around the world. Global Partners promote GYSD and disseminate information through their networks, encourage participation in GYSD by their members or affiliates, offer their experience and connections to broaden and evaluate GYSD and its impact as an international event.
- Regional Partners are regional offices of international organizations, regional organizations or networks, or national organizations that work with a network of organizational partners in their region of the world. Regional Partners are responsible for promoting and coordinating GYSD in their region, mobilizing partner organizations and Country Partners in their region to engage at least 10,000 youth volunteers, engaging media and government officials, tracking projects, and assisting with grant reviews and translations. 10 Regional Partners receive planning grants of $5,000.
- Country Partners serve as the lead convener and organizer of Global Youth Service Day in their country and report to the Regional Partners. Country Partners promote GYSD, mobilize partners and local project organizers, lead high profile events, engage local media and government officials, and coordinate project registration and reporting.
- Local Organizers are local NGOs, schools and universities, youth programs, government agencies, faith communities, families, and individuals around the world who plan, register, and implement a GYSD project.

U.S. Partners

- U.S. National Partners are national organizations, often with state or local chapters or affiliates, who promote GYSD, mobilize their members or chapters to participate, or support the work of GYSD through collaborative programming with YSA.
- US GYSD Lead Agencies, supported with planning grants funded by State Farm, are state or local organizations that convene all GYSD partners in their city or state, coordinate projects that engage at least 600 youth volunteers, and engage local media and elected officials. In 2011, there are 75 U.S. Lead Agencies.
- State and Local Partners are state or local organizations that promote and/or participate in YSA's programs, promote or apply for YSA grants, or promote or utilize YSA tools and resources.
- Local Organizers are anyone who plans, registers, and implements a GYSD or Semester of Service project.
